February 2017

I'd also like to introduce our newest team member, Inuri Munasinghe. She comes to us with both a retail and broadcasting background and a customer centric passion. Inuri's role includes project coordination for a variety of ground screen and specialty products as well as some marketing and social media responsibilities as a brand ambassador.

You'll be hearing a lot from her over the next couple of months. Check out what she have in the works...

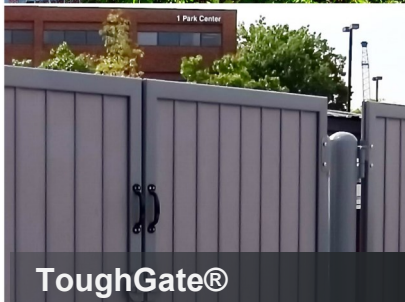

What's New?

"We took a social media vacation and I'm really glad we did, I think we were getting pretty stale, even to us. We have spent time re-focusing our message, listening to the markets we serve and developing some really cool new products. We are excited to hear your feedback as we start sharing some of the work we completed, I think you'll love our refocused efforts ..."
